PSPCS 36th Year and a Look at the 37th

This past year we have seen changes to PSPCS. We held a couple of 'member only' camera sales. We held a BBQ for those that attended one of the sales. We had a good turnout at our annual camera sale in April. Those that I talked to had a great time and found goodies to add to their collections.

Our social media present on Facebook started out at 135 Likes in September 2015 and after our April show grew to 192, finishing out early this month at 204 people following us.

We now have a new meeting place (same third Thursday's) at the venue that host our annual show, Kent Commons.

Our attendance is up at our meetings and there are a few new and younger faces. I hope the trend continues. We love hearing every bodies stories and sharing their treasures.

We had some members helping to add contents to the Bellows with some of their interesting articles. Giving the editor a break.

The Pacific Northwest gained a new camera show in Portland in August that many of our members attended and said it was small but enjoyed it. The owner of the show hopes to be back next year. Here is a review by one of the attendees that enjoyed that show.

Looking forward to a Great 37th year at PSPCS. Remember our Annual Camera Show at Kent Commons will be April 8th 2017.
